Hydroquinone — Amazing New Medical Discovery

As woman's eternal search for beauty continues, science heralds the discovery of a new, amazing cosmetic agent which holds the key to lighter lovelier complexions. This miraculous ingredient is Hydroquinone, contained only in new Artra Skin Tone Cream. Hydroquinone—soon to become a beauty by-word — makes no rash promises, no wild claims. It's amazing cosmetic properties have been laboratory-tested, and scientifically proven.

Years of tests and development have shown that people responded to Hydroquinone as lightening agent for normal skin. Today Hydroquinone has proven to be the most effective agent of its type known. So Artra Skin Tone Cream with Hydroquinone makes its startling entrance into the cosmetic world. Unlike creams containing other lightening agents, Artra is not only effective but safe. It can be used continuously on normal skin without irritation.

In the scientific world the development of Hydroquinone as a cosmetic lightening agent marks another milestone in the astonishing achievements of research. And for Milday, Artra Skin Tone Cream with Hydroquinone opens a golden door to lighter, lovelier skin.
